
(a) The two curves come from different drivers, the affine one from the mechanism test and the MLP one from the round-3 protocol, on the same 20 training and 20 held-out frames, with shared reference lines.
(b) One driver throughout; colour encodes the metric, not the map, and the aligned curve is identical under either flux convention by construction.